

Welcome to issue 42

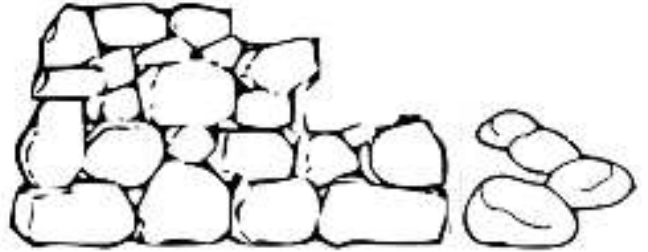

It's great to be back in the Editors Chair for Issue 42 October 2016, so many thanks to those who stood in for me in my enforced stay in Hospital. Especially Claire Savill and Chris Nelder. Thank you to you both.

So welcome to issue 42 October 2016. Not much changes, well we have 2 Church Walls falling down, another Pony was killed by a speeding motorist who did not stop.

Our sports teams had mixed reports and we have the 2nd half our school story.

I am told you they see the Voice in the most unusual places.

Whilst I was in Musgrove I had to have a small operation, where they make a small hole in your neck and pass a wire down to implant something inside you, One of the nurses jobs was to keep you still and relaxed. What we talked about was the Dulverton schools and the article in the Voice - yet another use for the Voice!

HELP PLEASE

I don't know if you are aware and not sure that residents of Dulverton are aware that the Co-responders are now down to 2 covering the Town as a third namely Ken Paviour recently retired. They attend in 2's when there is a call out so if one is not available then patients are vulnerable until a main ambulance arrives. ANYONE can volunteer to be a Co-Responder; they don't have to be a Fireman and anyone who wishes to find out more to have a word with the Officers at the Fire Station.

They are also having a recruitment drive to get more Firemen for the Dulverton Fire Service. We do not want to lose the Co-responders or even the Local Fire Service as they provide a valuable service to the town and surrounding area and several residents are very grateful to them for coming out to them in their hour of need.

Exmoor Pony Warning

The new signs went up on Winsford Hill recently warning Drivers of Ponies and Sheep and despite this, Yet again -devastatingly on Thursday night a precious Exmoor Pony Mare was hit by a 'hit and run' speeding reckless driver near the cattle grid at South Hill. This pony's injuries were such that she had to be put to sleep. A plead please to all Drivers who travel across Winsford Hill from South Hill Cattle Grid to Comers Gate DRIVE CAREFULLY as the Moor is the Ponies Home.

It's Worthwhile going the extra mile

Jon Cox trained as a chimney sweep in 2013, with the National association of chimney sweeps (October) (NACS) and qualified as an OFTEC technician. When the Voice started he was one of the first advertisers as he wished to change careers. He currently worked for the NHS and then took a full chimney sweeps course and passed.

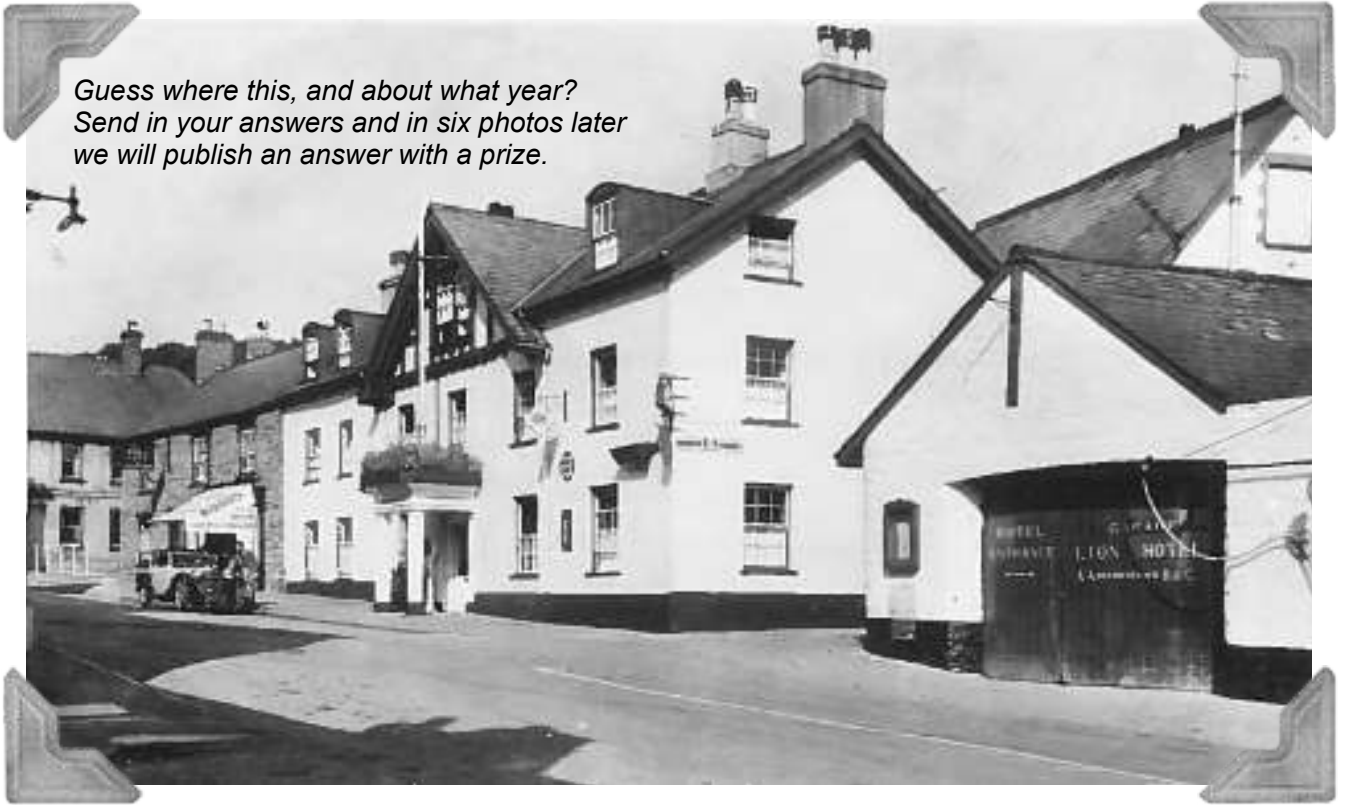

Reducing his hours for the NHS he started part time on his new career and placed an ad in the "Voice". We do when possible with our the ads try them out when we had a chance.

He went the further mile to help us and we have used him since then and the business has grown and he is now full time on his new career.

Dulverton ~ the way we were

We are going to give you a series of photographs of old Dulverton in the early part of the last century and later, there will be a different one each month. We would welcome your input and please send your comments to the editor.

*Guess where this, and about what year?
Send in your answers and in six photos later we will publish an answer with a prize.*

Now and Then then can you help the Exmoor Society ?

Since 1958, the Exmoor Society has collected thousands of 35mm slides and over the past two years they have digitised as many of them as possible. They are a valuable record of Exmoor, showing how the landscape has changed gradually (and not so gradually) over the decades. Those that show people, street scenes and livestock also show social changes, creating a continuing record of the moor, its people, landscape and animals, we are retaking these photographs and noting more precisely when and where they were taken.

The principle is simple – go to the same spot the old photo was taken and retake it. In practice, the Society's archivist has found it isn't always easy to locate the exact same spot! Since we have over 1500 slides depicting locations across the moor, the task is enormous and we are seeking people to get involved and help us retake these historical photographs.

So if you fancy doing some detective work and seeing how Exmoor has evolved, please contact the archivist on exmoorsocietyarchivist@gmail.com for details of the project.

Launch of Dulverton Weir & Leat Conservation Trust by The Rt Hon The Lord Dulverton

On Wednesday 24th August at an official ceremony at Weirhead Dulverton, The RT Hon the Lord Dulverton launched the Dulverton Weir & Leat Conservation Trust on its campaign to restore and conserve Dulverton's medieval Urban Watermill Landscape (the weir and mill leat system).

More than 180 people were welcomed to the ceremony by Charity Trustees Robin Ashburner and Peter Romain who explained that this project is probably the most ambitious of its type ever to be undertaken on Exmoor.

Good Turn

It's nice when someone says a special "Thank You"

Sam went out shopping with this mum and she also wanted to see an old lady in hospital, so Sam was dragged along. He turned the visit into loads of FUN.

The lady was so grateful at being cheered up, that she wrote to Sam's favourite sports star, who wrote to Sam. The attached photo shows Sam with a signed picture of Jack Nowell.

Church Wall ...

The Villainous "Church Wall" - Sounds like fiction but its Fact.

The All Saints Church Wall saga continues for yet another year. 5 years and counting. No work will be done this year and the foot path remains closed despite the best effort of the Town Council and local Church.

DTC and the local All Saints Church have been working together in an attempt to get permission from Diocese of Bath & Wells to carryout remedial work on the dangerous Church Wall running alongside a public footpath.

What's it got to do with me and why should I care, I hear you say - well, due to the Law, the maintenance of the church yard walls falls to the town to pay for the upkeep, meaning you and me are stuck with the bill.

On 1st April 2016 (April Fool's day, we should have taken a hint from the date) the DB&W finally got round to issuing a legal document called a Faculty to the DTC/Church. In our terms a Faculty can be thought of as planning permission. It gave permission for work to start for either of the 2 proposed alternatives (it took 6 months of asking before they got round to send us a copy in September).

Hooray, I hear you say.

But the Diocese of Bath & Wells in September informed us that the legal document they had previously issued was an "administration error" and enclosing yet another a Faculty dated on April Fools date (1st April) - two legal document issued on the same day? The accompanying letter told us in no uncertain terms that we could not start work using alternative A, but should go ahead with B. The down side was no "builder" was prepared to quote for B. A fact they are aware of

After an email exchange, the Diocese of Bath & Wells finally emailed asking for written proof that your Town Council was unable to get any engineering companies to quote for B, if we did so, they would possible consider changing the Faculty to authorize alternative A.

Are these demands reasonable - only you can decide

Coming soon the next gripping instalment - watch this space

... The other Church Wall

If you have had the opportunity to stroll through the church yard recently you may have noticed the wall between the Old School House (on the left) and All Saints Church Yard has fall down in part. This is a “dry” stone wall which nobody can argue about- it is a fascia wall (the opposite to the notorious “Church Wall” which supports 2m of earth) with the stones set into the earth slope.

Just recent the Diocese of Bath & Wells, “Church Wall” saga in another item of news this month’s, claim by “the rebuttable presumption that they will belong to the church in the absence of any evidence to the contrary.” Unfortunately this being the case it fails to the town to pay up yet again, however in this case permission has been granted by the local church to go ahead up to a certain cost.

On the plus side we hope not to have to deal with the Diocese of Bath & Wells and can get on as the work has been approved.

Part Two of DULVERTON SCHOOLS

As a youngster, I wasn't privileged to attend Dulverton schools so I am not writing from past experience but from the kindness of past students and staff who studied or otherwise at our schools.

I mentioned Mr Weaver, a headmaster during the Second World War, at the First School, he was followed by Mr G Warner, known as "Plum" he presided between 1952 and '58 with a break by Mr J H Parfitt between 1958 to '61 and Mr Warner reappearing from 1961 to '63.

After that, many of you will remember Mr Higginbottom who came from Lancashire. I remember him slipping my children when they attended the First School.

We leave the First School temporarily to mention the earlier years of the then, Secondary Modern School. built 1957-58 to accommodate children of the Dulverton and District, the children not leaving until they were 16.

The first Headmaster being Mr E Hall followed by Mr W S Clifton for three years and then by Mr M Wood.

1967 came along and the school changed to a Middle School, the Government policy changed and the Somerset County Council followed by changing the name along with the style of teaching and with age range of pupils from 9 to 13 yrs.

1985 the school was designated for change when the Lib. Dems. strategy altered the system and the school name was altered to Dulverton Middle and Community School. The school had at least 10 staff and the ratio of pupil to staff was about twenty to one. This was the time when adult education took off and many adult classes were formed, as many as 500 adults attending the courses.

2000 saw the famed Exmoor Curriculum launched, a joint effort between the Exmoor National Park and the Middle School to raise the awareness of the countryside and where they lived incorporating the current school curriculum as well.

2005 the SCC funds started to dry up, consequently the school suffered on going cuts and the adult education at the school was withdrawn.

Next time we shall mention members of staff that you all might know, from 1967 on, more on the First School and how the schools then changed up to the present day.

CN

Dulverton Sports!

Football

The Football Club has not started well in the new 2016/17 season. Our first game was played away to newly promoted Ash Rangers in Taunton.

We started well, with Captain Dave Kelland eventually scoring. A reversal of fortunes then took place during the second half, when we were simply outpaced. The home team took their chances which resulted in them scoring three goals and three points in the bag.

Our first home game of the season is traditionally played in sunshine and we usually win! We got our sunshine but lost badly to our visitors, Stogursey.

Unfortunately, on the day, several of our players were unavailable to play and we started the game with the basic number of 11 players and no substitutes.

By half-time, we were 2-0 down, both goals being scored from the penalty spot for an identical offence by the same player! In addition to this, the Referee was unavoidably hit in the face by the ball, resulting in the game being stopped for 20 mins. The second half saw Stogursey score a further 3 goals - it was quite a relief for Dulverton when the final whistle blew and, obviously, a game to forget!

Cricket

The Cricket season review.

The Cricket club have just completed a successful and enjoyable season in the west Somerset Saturday cricket league.

Having been relegated from division one the previous season the team were looking to consolidate in the second division and most of all enjoy their cricket. They achieved a very respectable 3rd place finish thanks to some good individual performances and a great team spirit. On top of the 3rd place they also made it to a cup final which they only lost with 3 balls to spare against a team from the division above.

In the league they won ten games, lost four and had four rained off.

Top run scorer was captain Carl Hooper with 593 runs and top wicket taker was Andrew Nicholas with 25. Hooper and Mark Drewer both scored a century and there were half centuries for Harry Harrison x4, Hooper x3, Tom Ninnis x2 and one each for Drewer and Rob Dubery. Bowling honours for 5 wickets went to Adrain smith x3 and one each for Craig Lewington and Andrew Nicholas.

Dulverton also ran a side in the North Devon Sunday league. Despite struggling for numbers for large parts of the season the team achieved a mid-table finish in division three. Their last game of the season even saw them win with only 8 players after taking the long journey to Bude.

Top run scorer was Lee Hooper with 1021 runs and top wicket taker was John Garner with 15 wickets.

Batting honours for centuries went to Lee Hooper with six centuries and Carl Hooper with two. There were half centuries for Lee Hooper x2, Joe Parkinson x2 and one each for Tom Blundell and Rob Dubery. There was only one five wicket haul which went to John Garner.

Both teams are always on the look out for new players, for more info contact club captain Carl Hooper on 07866 256769

Congratulations to all our young people who did well in their A levels. It is nice to know that Kate Ansell and Chloe Puttock obtained their first university choices and we wish them well and hope that in future the Voice will be informed so we can publish a list of all those who were successful.
